SUBJECT: American Red Cross/La Salle University Faculty/Staff Blood Donor Campaign

Dear La Salle Employees:

We have the advantage of living and working in a community that has a high concentration of hospitals with state-of-the-art technology, equipment and medical talent. As you know, an essential element for our hospitals to carry out their mission to provide quality health care is to have an adequate blood supply.

Recently, the American Red Cross has experienced local and national shortages of blood. While supplies have stabilized, there is still a deficit situation occurring.

An employee blood donor campaign is scheduled for:

Wednesday, July 26

10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Dunleavy Room of Student Union Building

Your donation remains vitally important to area hospital patients. I strongly encourage your participation in this lifesaving program.

A SURPRISE DEDICATION...

Dave Efroymsen, professor of religion, was pleasantly surprised during a visit from a former student this past Saturday, July 8. Eugene V. Gallagher, a 1972 La Salle graduate, co-authored the recently published book, "Why Waco? Cults and the Battle for Religious Freedom in America." The surprise came as Gallagher presented an autographed copy of his new book to Efroymsen, to whom the book was dedicated. Gallagher, who majored in religion while at La Salle and who is now a professor of religion at Connecticut College, credits Efroymsen, a friend and mentor for twenty-five years, for triggering his devotion to academic religion. The book in detail examines the handling by federal authorities of the 1993 incidents involving David Koresh and the Branch Davidian compound in Texas.

The ACLS Fellowship Program supports post-doctoral research in the humanities and the humanities-related social sciences. A Ph.D. received prior to October 1, 1993, or its equivalent is required. Younger scholars and independent scholars who do not hold academic appointments are strongly encouraged to apply. Also for humanities scholars holding the Ph.D., a travel grant program is available to assist those taking formal part in international meetings abroad. Graduate students working on Ph.D. dissertations in the art history of the United States are encouraged to apply to the Henry Luce Foundation ACLS Dissertation Fellowship Program in American Art. Scholars specializing on China are invited to apply to the Chiang Ching-kuo ACLS program of Fellowships for Chinese Studies. Postdoctoral scholars and graduate students concentrating on other geographical regions are invited to apply to the appropriate Area Program, sponsored jointly with the Social Science Research Council. The ACLS administers the Fellowships for East European Studies; the SSRC administers programs for those areas listed. The ACLS programs require U.S. citizenship or permanent legal residence, except the Fellowships for Chinese Studies.

Additional information or an application form may be requested either by mail or by fax. (Application forms, however, will neither be sent nor accepted by fax.) Requests for an application form must contain the following information: citizenship or permanent residence, highest academic degree held and date received (graduate students should also indicate current level of graduate study), academic or other position, field of specialization, proposed subject of research, study or conference, period of time for which support is requested, and the specific program under which application is contemplated. Travel grant requests should also include the name, date and place of the meeting, as well as the role the applicant will have.
